

North Dakota Fallen Firefighter's Memorial

Stone Paving Project

About the Project

In 2012, the North Dakota Firefighter's Museum became home to the North Dakota Fallen Firefighter's Memorial. The memorial remembers and recognizes all North Dakota fallen firefighter's who have lost their lives in the line of duty. The memorial features a front stone honoring all firefighter's past and present as well as three flagpoles flying a United States Flag, North Dakota Flag, and a Fallen Firefighter's Flag. Behind the stone are two granite pillars that bear the names of each fallen firefighter etched in the granite. The NDFA Past President's Association chose the museum to be home of the memorial and worked diligently in fundraising money to make it happen. The memorial is placed adjacent to the museum.

The NDFA Past Presidents goal is to begin landscaping the area around the memorial which will make the memorial more complete. As a fundraising effort, the group is selling 12x16 gray scratch-proof granite engraved stones to individuals, departments, or businesses that would like to purchase. The Stone Paving Project is a thoughtful way to contribute in the name of a loved one, honor a family, or recognize an organization/ department.
